
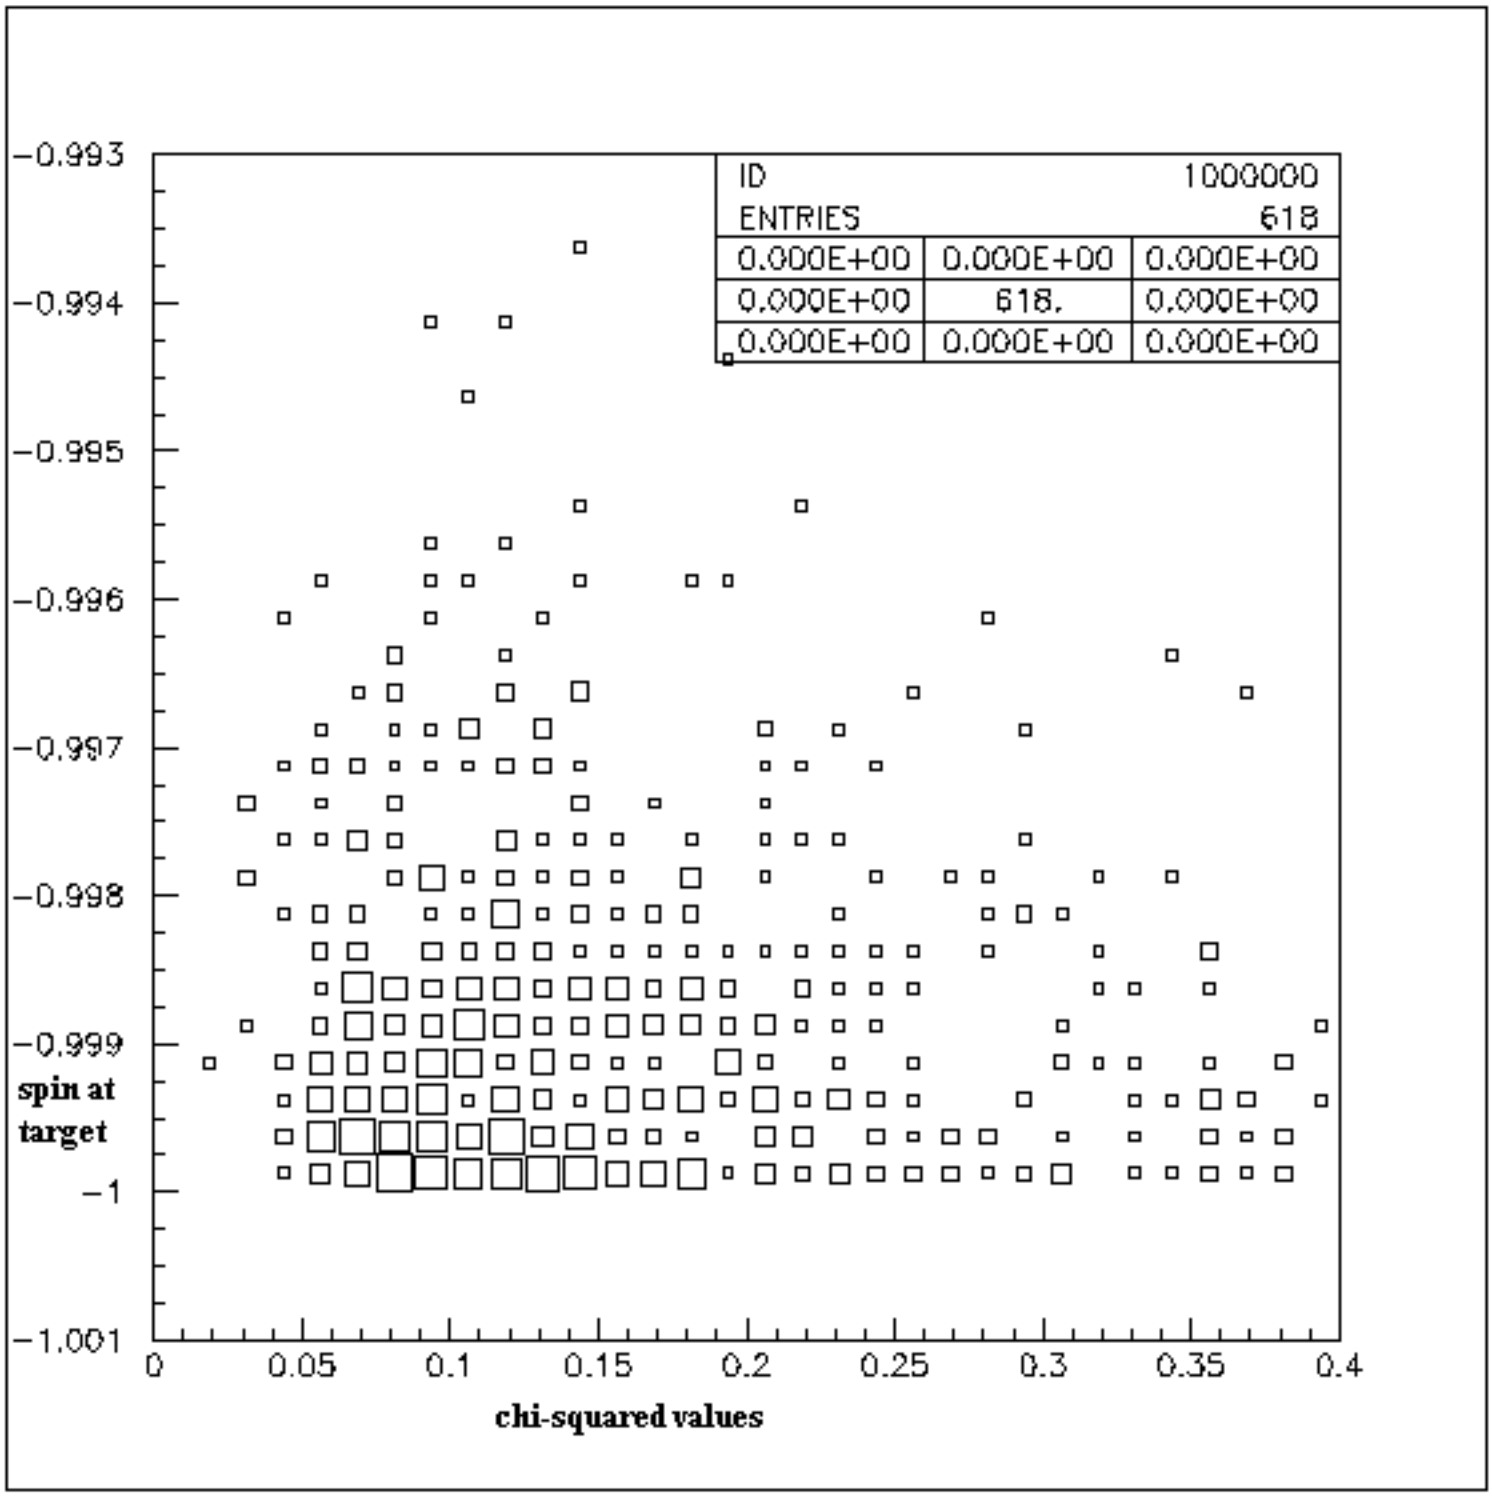

Figure 11: a plot of the muon polarization at the target versus the chi-squared values of the helix fit: the special conditions of the helix fit have been removed. One thousand events in total were run, and 678 stopped in the target; the first nine drift chambers in the original detector were used to fit helices. Note that any traces of a relationship have essentially disappeared.