
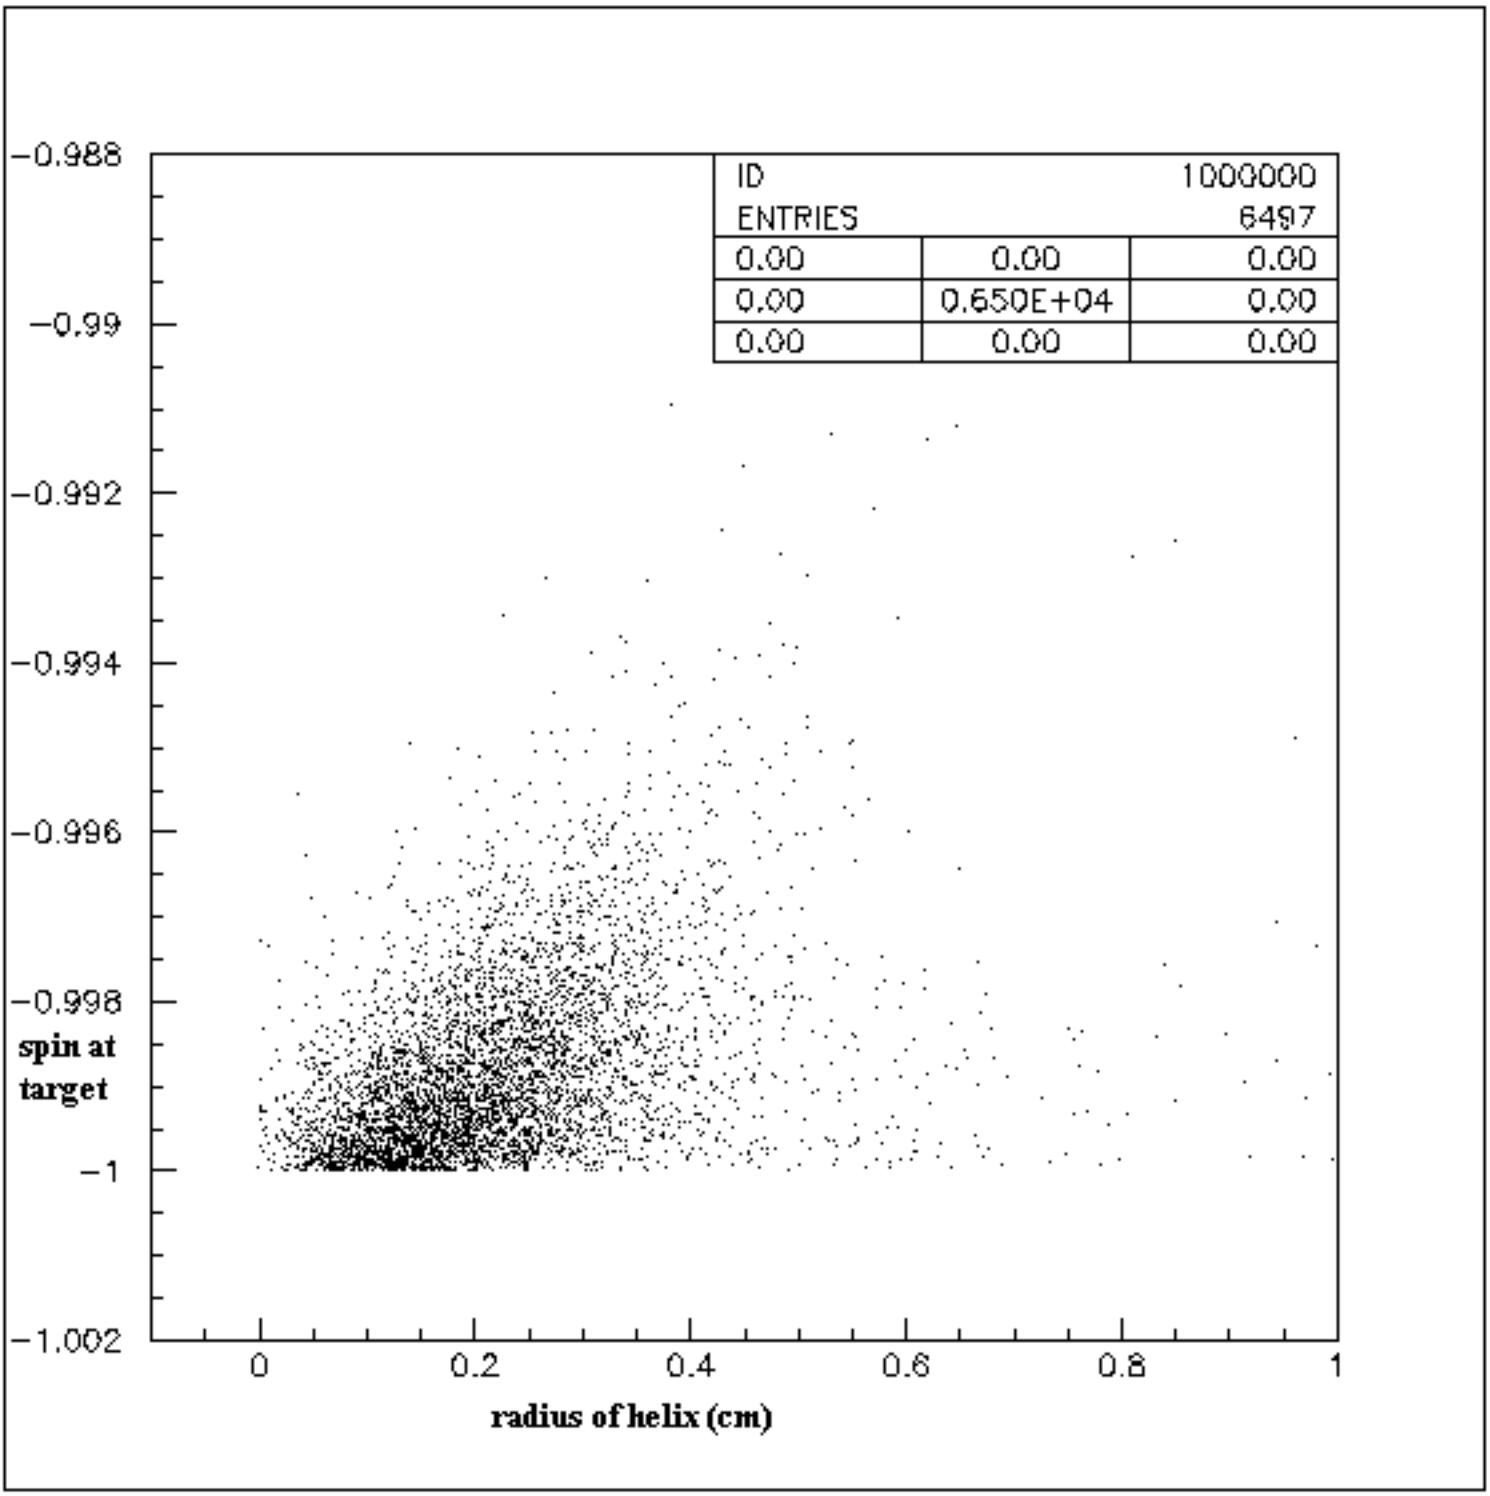

Figure 12: a plot of the muon polarization at the target versus the radii of the helices fitted to the muon tracks, using the muon detector. Ten thousand events in total were run, with 6497 stopping in the target. The relationship between the polarization at the target and the helix radii is much clearer than in Figure 8.